The Cockpit

The place to be when on a sailing boat — where all the action takes place!

Here you can join Captain Dino at the helm, hear his stories, and even pick up a few sailing tricks along the way.

What makes our Lorenzo truly unique is the custom-built hard top, designed and handcrafted by Dino himself. This thoughtful addition provides comfortable shade during sunny days and can be fully closed in case of bad weather. So, no matter the conditions, you'll always be able to sit outside, relax, and take in the stunning surroundings in comfort.

Sailing

Yacht architect studio Fimot-Conq designed the Oceanis 35 as comfortable cruising yacht with ocean racer DNA. This means very wide hull with two rudder bladders, flat bottom at the back and lot of volume in the front, to avoid pitchpoling when downwind.

Benefits are clear - much more stability, speed and safety. She can carry more sails being faster without sacrificing guests comfort by leaning too much. Planning downwind ability is not just fun but also a big safety feature, avoiding violent waves splashing on the boat.

Matching speed of the weather or even being faster is the way how ocean racers manage to survive in tough weather.

Charter boats are not made for racing, most of them are even underpowered. The standard trim is forcing crews to motor most of the time especially in the summer when winds are lighter. To avoid that we improved our Beneteau adding Code 0 and asymmetrical spinnaker sails. This increases our sailing time percentage radically. We believe that sailing boat should sail and to achieve it bigger sails are needed in lighter winds.

When Mother Nature decide to refuse moving air, we have a reliable Yanmar engine to bring us to desired destination.

Step into the spacious saloon and immerse yourself in its inviting ambiance, crafted by contemporary interior design and expansive portholes and windows that flood the area with natural light.
